

The Global Fund – Head of Resilient and Sustainable Systems for Health

The Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria will appoint a new Head of Resilient and Sustainable Systems for Health (RSSH).

The Global Fund is a worldwide movement to defeat HIV, TB and malaria and ensure a healthier, safer, more equitable future for all. It raises and invests US$4 billion a year to fight the deadliest infectious diseases, challenge the injustice which fuels them, and strengthen health systems in more than 100 of the hardest hit countries. It unites world leaders, communities, civil society, health workers and the private sector to find out what works and take it to scale – so the world makes more progress, more rapidly. It's working. Since 2002, it has saved 38 million lives. The Global Fund won't stop until the job is finished.

The Global Fund seeks an exceptional public health leader with excellent people management skills, ideally developed within an international or multicultural environment. The role reports to the Head of Technical Advice and Partnerships and is the lead voice of authority on RSSH, both with external audiences and within the Global Fund Secretariat. The Head of RSSH leverages the Global Fund's investment scale and partnerships to lead, shape, coordinate and oversee implementation of the Global Fund's RSSH strategic objectives. The Head of RSSH sets the agenda for how the Global Fund demonstrably accelerates in-country results from the more than $1 billion spent annually on strengthening and supporting national health and community systems to accelerate in-country results against HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria. The position also leads the Global Fund's RSSH approach on Global Health Security and on pandemic preparedness and responses, including in mitigating the impact of COVID-19 on HIV, TB and malaria programs and service access.

The Global Fund is committed to a diverse, equitable, and inclusive work environment. To help to achieve this, the Global Fund welcome applications from all qualified candidates who share this commitment, regardless of sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, HIV status, race, national origin, cultural or ethnic background, disability, marital status, religion, or age.
