Reporting to the Executive Director, the Head of SIID is a key member of the Global Fund's Senior Management, and is responsible for maximizing the impact of Global Fund investments, by ensuring the Fund's work is informed by state-of-the-art technical and strategic advice.

The Global Fund is a worldwide movement to defeat HIV, TB and malaria and ensure a healthier, safer, more equitable future for all. It raises and invests over US$4.5 billion a year to fight the deadliest infectious diseases, challenge the injustice which fuels them, and strengthen health systems in more than 120 of the hardest hit countries. It unites world leaders, communities, civil society, health workers, and the private sector to find out what works and take it to scale – so the world makes more progress, more rapidly. It works. Since its creation in 2002, The Global Fund partnership has saved over 44 million lives. The Global Fund will not stop until the job is finished. This year, the Global Fund aims to raise at least US$18 billion for its Seventh Replenishment, to fund the next three years of the fight against HIV, TB and malaria, and the effort to build stronger systems for health.

The Global Fund is looking for an exceptional strategic thinker, people leader and operational manager with a deep understanding of the rapidly evolving global health arena. The role requires an exceptional ability to translate strategic and technical insight into operational impact. The successful candidate will ensure the Global Fund's investments are informed by the best available technical advice and implementation support, drawing on experts in the division and leveraging the technical expertise of a wide range of partners. The new Head of SIID will inherit a division comprising four departments – Technical Advice & Partnerships; Communities, Rights and Gender; Health Finance; Access to Funding – and approximately 200 staff.
