Florencia Guerzovich is an internationally recognized impact and learning independent consultant with over 20 years of experience commissioning, producing, reviewing and supporting the use of evidence in development and governance strategies and programming. She has worked with philanthropy, multilateral organizations, academic, public sector, civil society and communities in more than 50 countries in the Americas, Europe, Asia and Africa. She has spearheaded the use of fit-for-complexity and heterogeneity approaches in multi-country, multi-sector portfolios. As a systems convener, she has led efforts to close gaps between theories and evaluations and emergent learning produced by communities and other actors in the Global South.

Guerzovich holds a PhD in political science from Northwestern University, a master's degree in International Relations from FLACSO/Argentina and a Bachelor of Arts in International Studies from Universidad Torcuato di Tella. She is a collaborating researcher of Grupo Politeia at University of the State of Santa Catarina (Brazil), a co-founder of act4delivery and a member of Red de Politologas. She is Argentinean, lives in Brazil and is fluent in Spanish, Portuguese and English.
