Part 1. Letter from the Inspector General

Dear members of the Board,

The Office of the Inspector General (OIG) is the largest it has ever been and in a better place than two years ago. Current headcount in October stands at a record 40; five more staff will join in the next weeks leaving only three vacancies to fill to reach our budgeted headcount of 48. In the 2014 biannual Staff Engagement Survey, OIG scores were significantly higher in all 14 categories of questions than in 2012. The biggest improvement recorded was in risk (45% growth), communication and change (33%) and collaboration and team work (32%).

More staff joining, particularly in the Investigations Unit, combined with effective management, means we are now able to clear the backlog of investigation cases from before 2012, so-called 'legacy cases'. Of the 31 legacy cases still on our books at the end of 2013, we have closed 21 this year, of which eight resulted in full reports available on the Global Fund/ OIG website. By the end of the year, we will only have two more legacy cases to finalize. This means that next year the investigations team can start working on newer cases and on more proactive projects as defined in the Investigations 2015 Work Plan (Annex D). For example, the OIG has been invited to host the 2015 edition of the Conference of International Investigators for the first time. The team is also working with the Secretariat to ensure that any violations to human rights are captured in our complaints handling processes and investigated if necessary.

Concerning the Audit Unit, OIG leadership decided this year to focus on restructuring the team and to introduce a more strategic approach to auditing. The 2014 Audit Work Plan had to be revised, mainly due to staff departures and initiatives at the Secretariat that were not yet ready to be audited (for example, the new funding model). So far this year, we have completed four deep drill in-country audits and a detailed governance review. We will issue 11 reports instead of the 21 originally envisaged. The 11 reports were chosen to provide sufficient coverage and focus on key high-risk areas to allow us to complete an overall assurance statement in January 2015. The Audit 2015 Work Plan (Annex C) will continue to dedicate resources to strategically important projects to help improve the Global Fund through ex-ante work done in cooperation with the Secretariat. In 2014, these projects included the Governance Review, Combined Assurance, Ethics and Results-Based Financing.

Cooperation with the Secretariat is also reflected in a fundamental shift away from previous OIG recommendations to what are known as agreed management actions. These actions are designed to ensure that problems identified by OIG work are corrected by the Secretariat. The agreement comes when the OIG accepts that the solution addresses the root cause and when the Secretariat acknowledges that implementation is necessary and achievable. More about this in the Board paper GF/B32/07.

Since the Board's approval of the revised Policy for Disclosure of Reports Issued by the Inspector General and its endorsement of the overall OIG Communications Strategy at its last meeting in March, we have also started to implement the stakeholder engagement models. The models have generally been well-received as they clarify the specific steps and timelines of the audit and investigation process. They help prevent surprises and allow all stakeholders to respond to the OIG's findings in a timely manner.

Finally, with our 2015 Work Plans and Key Performance Indicators approved by the Audit and Ethics Committee, we now have a framework to begin next year's work, conscious of the major challenges we face in helping to ensure that the Global Fund takes the right action in the fight against the three diseases.

As this will be my last meeting at the Board, allow me to end on a personal note. It has been a pleasure and an honor to work with you all. In my career, I have never worked with people as committed, and determined, to improve the lives of millions of people. I want to express my deepest thanks and appreciation.

Best regards,

Martin O'Malley, Inspector General

Part 2. Audit Unit

Progress against the 2014 Audit Work Plan

Early in 2014 the OIG leadership took an informed decision to restructure the audit team and to focus on a new audit approach that was more closely aligned to Global Fund strategy. The new approach is designed to answer high-level questions of value to the Board rather than focus solely on compliance as before. In addition, we realize that greater ex-ante audit input is needed on a number of developing Secretariat business processes and have allocated staff accordingly to assist in them.

Partly because of this shift in emphasis, seven members of staff left this year (two were made redundant, one transferred to the Secretariat, one took early retirement and three resigned). Recruitment to fill the resulting vacancies took substantially longer than expected, which meant that for much of the year we have functioned at less than 50% of our approved head count. Nonetheless, we chose not to substitute internal staff with externally hired consultants. Not only is it difficult to supervise and control the quality of external contractors' work, it also does little to build institutional memory.

In addition to staffing constraints, certain engagements that we had envisaged for the current year did not have sufficient data and/or progress in implementation at the Secretariat to allow us to audit (for example, the new funding model, Key Performance Indicators), and a number of country audits had to be cancelled due to security concerns (Guinea and Liberia have been indefinitely postponed given the Ebola epidemic.)

Given the above, the 2014 work plan has been revised with approval from the Audit and Ethics Committee. As of 24 October, we are at 76% completion compared to a target of 81% for the revised plan. Details of the plan can be found in Annex A.

We are on track to providing an assurance statement to the Audit and Ethics Committee and the Board on governance, risk management and controls at the Global Fund, based on work done in 2013 and 2014, and in time for the first Audit and Ethics Committee meeting of 2015.

We can report the following successes so far this year:

- At the time of writing, out of the vacancies mentioned above, only two remain vacant. From a total of over 700 applicants, we have recruited two Audit Managers (one is on board and the second starts on 1 November), four Lead Auditors (one is on board and the others will start in January) and three Auditors (two have started and one will start in January). We have contracted a human resources firm that specializes in private sector finance and audit portfolios to assist with the remaining Audit Manager and Lead Auditor positions.
- Our new audit approach, based on much stronger alignment to the strategic objectives of the Secretariat, is now fully embedded. Team members are comfortable with the change and applying it in their engagements. However, we should not underestimate the time needed over the next 12 months to ensure that new colleagues adopt and fully practice the new approach as well.
- We have progressed with linking Agreed Management Actions to the findings in our audit reports. These replace recommendations and mean that the auditee agrees that the actions are implementable within the stated timeline and that the OIG agrees that the actions address the root causes underlying the finding.
- We continue to be actively involved on the combined assurance steering and working groups, results-based funding initiatives, document retention policy work and to shadow the implementation of the new funding model.

Part 3. Investigations Unit

Investigations Unit structure

The Investigations Unit is now running at full complement (21 staff), with the recent successful recruitment of the three remaining investigator positions, as well as the Team Lead and the Analyst positions in the newly-created Intelligence and Operational Excellence Team. The purpose of this team is to support the OIG by acting as a knowledge resource through efficient information processing and case management activities. The team is also charged with developing intelligence-informed activities to prevent or disrupt fraud.

Reporting allegations/complaints

Another responsibility of the Intelligence and Operational Excellence Team is to screen complaints and respond to the complainant within 48 hours. Earlier this year, the team reviewed and streamlined the OIG case intake process, which has resulted in more efficient and effective investigation assignment. This year, the Investigations Unit also undertook a review of the external Alert Line Web Intake Site, which is the online reporting interface used by complainants. Improvements to the site have been discussed with the supplier to make it more 'user-friendly' and the result should go live in the next few weeks. Questions have been refined to ensure the screening team captures all pertinent data. In the past, data reported using this method missed key information, which, as a result, required the screening team to spend more time on follow-up work.

Case status

In 2013, the investigations team closed 156 cases. As of 28 October 2014, 45 cases have been closed either through case closure memos or published reports. The cases closed through memos are when the OIG has determined that interim findings do not justify the commitment of further resources or the investigator concludes there is insufficient information to substantiate the complaint. So far this year we have published eight reports, all available in full on the Global Fund /OIG website (See Annex B). Eleven more reports will be published before the end of December 2014.

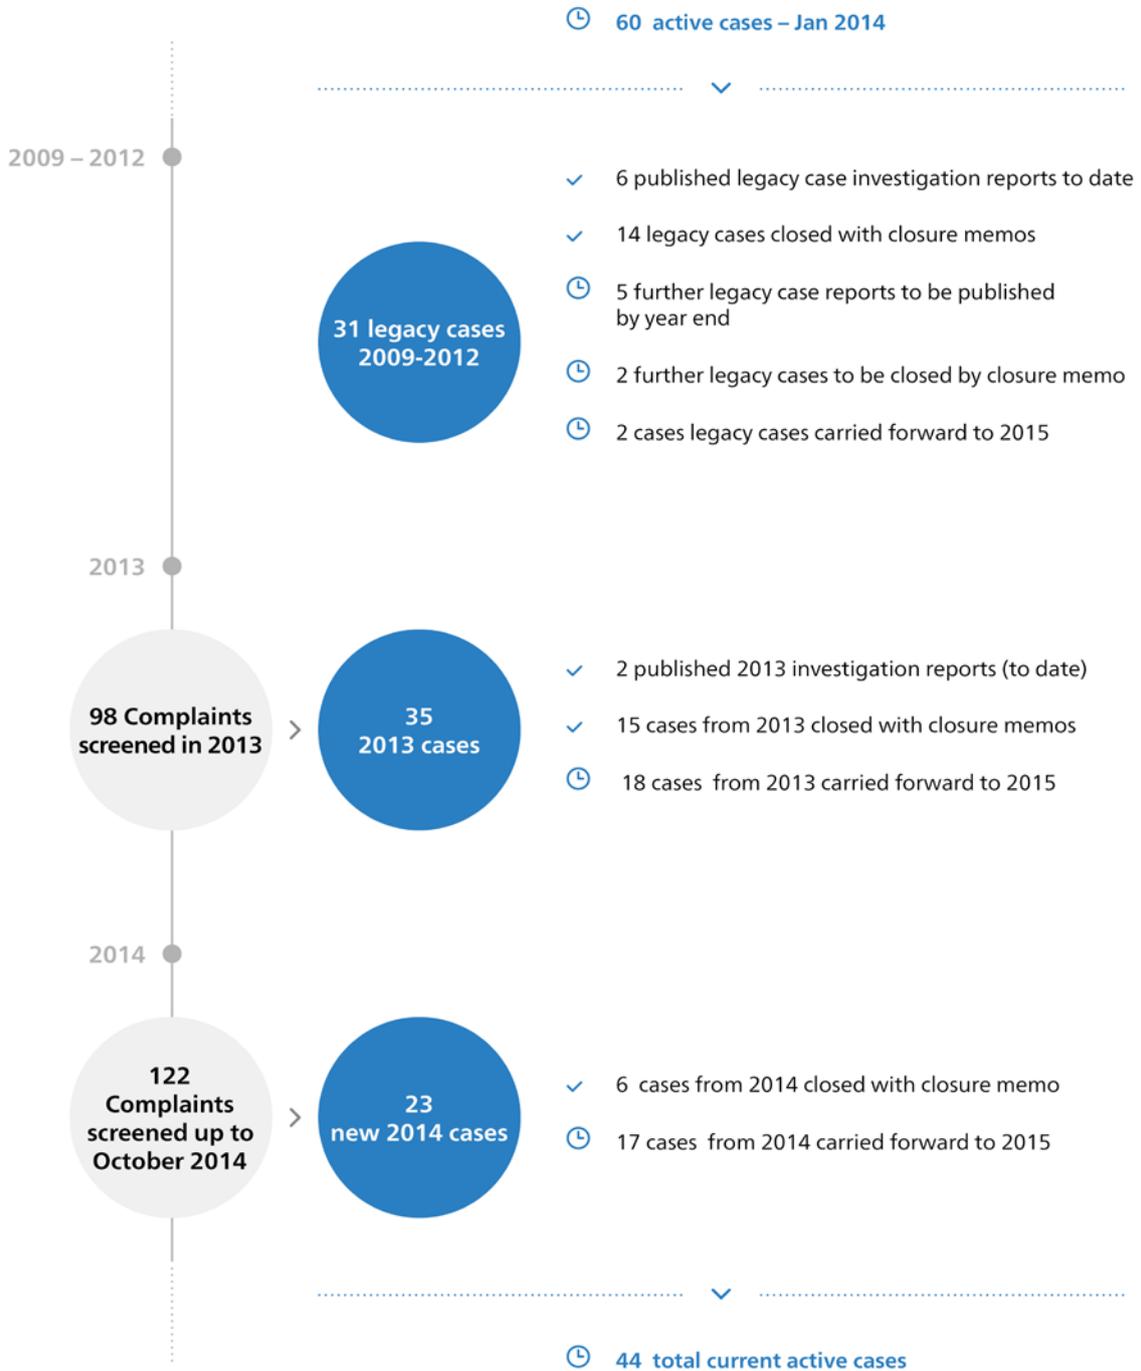

Investigation case load

We have almost cleared the backlog of 'legacy cases'. We started the year with 60 active investigations of which half were classed as 'legacy', i.e. investigations dating back to 2009-2012. The focus this year has been to clear these cases. Eight investigations have been published to date of which six are legacy, and a further five will be published by year end. Not all of the complaints linked to legacy investigations can be substantiated and in such instances these cases are closed with what is called a 'case closure memo'.

Complaint reporting has increased. In 2014, 122 fraud and abuse allegations were received. This represents a significant upturn of 49% compared to the same period in 2013. In 2011 and 2012, the average number of complaints received was 44.

Productivity has increased. Despite increased numbers of complaints/allegations coming in, we will finish the year with fewer cases on our books than at the beginning: 44 active investigations compared with 60 investigations open at the beginning of the year. The focus in 2015 will then be to complete the remaining two legacy cases, the 18 investigations which date back to allegations made in 2013, and to finalize the majority of the 18 investigations resulting from allegations made in 2014. In tandem, the Investigation Unit will explore effective fraud prevention and disruption strategies. More information on our 2015 Work Plan in Annex D.

Investigations Case load

Human rights

The Global Fund Strategy 2012-2016: Investing for Impact, includes protecting and promoting human rights as one of five core objectives. Strategic action 4.1 commits to “Ensuring the Global Fund does not fund programs that infringe human rights.”

In order to make this commitment operational, the Global Fund has developed a provision for inclusion in each of its grant agreements which states the minimum human rights standards expected by implementers of Global Fund financed programs. In connection with this clause, a complaints procedure, building on the processes and mechanisms already in place, is required, so that any violations of these human rights standards by grant recipients can be brought to the Global Fund’s attention and addressed, as needed.

The OIG is a key stakeholder in this process and we are working closely with the Secretariat to integrate human rights violation complaints into our current complaint handling processes. Together with the Secretariat, for the remaining part of the year, the OIG investigations team will focus on:

1. reviewing existing mechanisms, procedures and partnership agreements and identifying ways to integrate human right complaints, as well as identifying any gaps or outstanding questions;
2. developing and agreeing on specifics i.e. defining the scope of what constitute actionable human rights complaints (within the context of Global Fund Grant Regulations language), response time-frame, ascertaining whether the Global Fund has a duty to report certain types of human rights violations, and to whom, and identifying ways to make the reporting of complaints more accessible and easier for users;
3. devising a communications plan i.e. guidance/brochure explaining how it will work, internal communications (with the Grant Management Division, the Strategy, Investments and Impact Division and the OIG) and external communications (with Country Coordinating Mechanisms, Principal Recipients, UN partners...);
4. assessing ways that the Secretariat and the OIG can check on progress through tracking information about complaints, cross-referencing cases/allegations, surveying user profiles, and determining corporate KPIs.

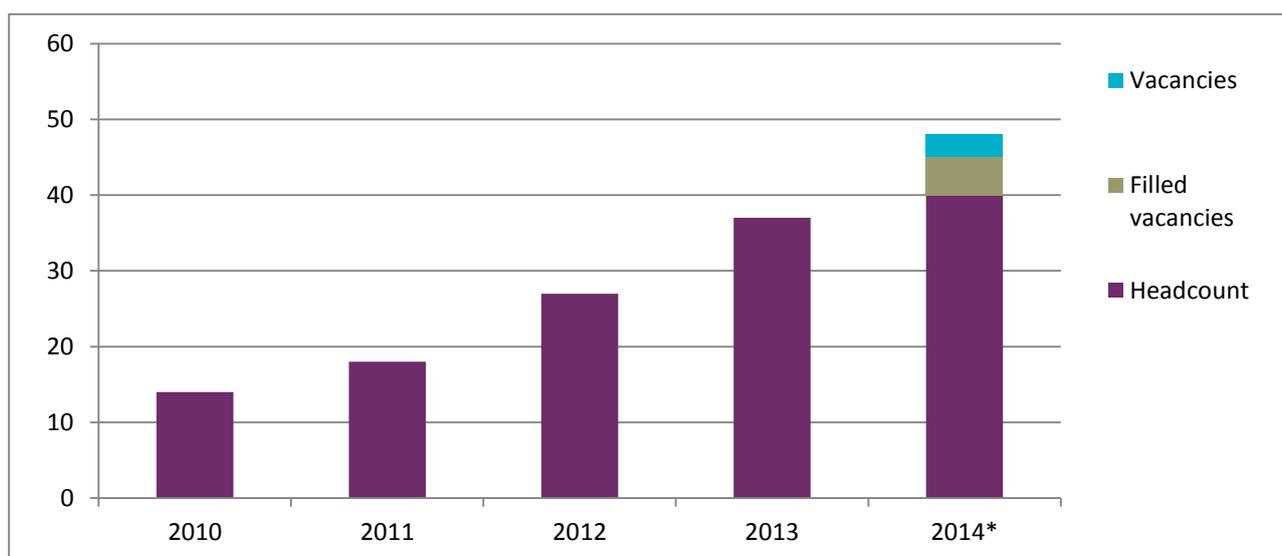

Part 4. Budget and resources

OIG Headcount

At the time of writing, the OIG has never been better resourced. Staff headcount is the highest it has ever been at 40 out of an overall budget of 48. Of the eight positions left, five have been filled, with new staff joining in the next few months, leaving three remaining vacancies.

Headcount 1 Jan 2014	Hires 2014	Departures 2014	Headcount 24 Oct 2014	Filled vacancies	Vacancies
37	14	11	40	5	3

Staff growth has been constant over the last five years with a surge in recruitment in 2014.

*end of October

OIG Budget

At the end of August, the OIG operational expenditure showed an underspend of $3,978,836. Most of this can be explained by variances in salaries due to staff departures, external factors such as the postponement of two audits due to the Ebola epidemic, timing differences and careful savings in the use of external consultants.

Vision

The Global Fund's audit unit will be a respected role model and inspire the international aid community

Mission

To support, improve and safeguard the Global Fund

Executive Summary

Planning approach and audit response

Planning Approach

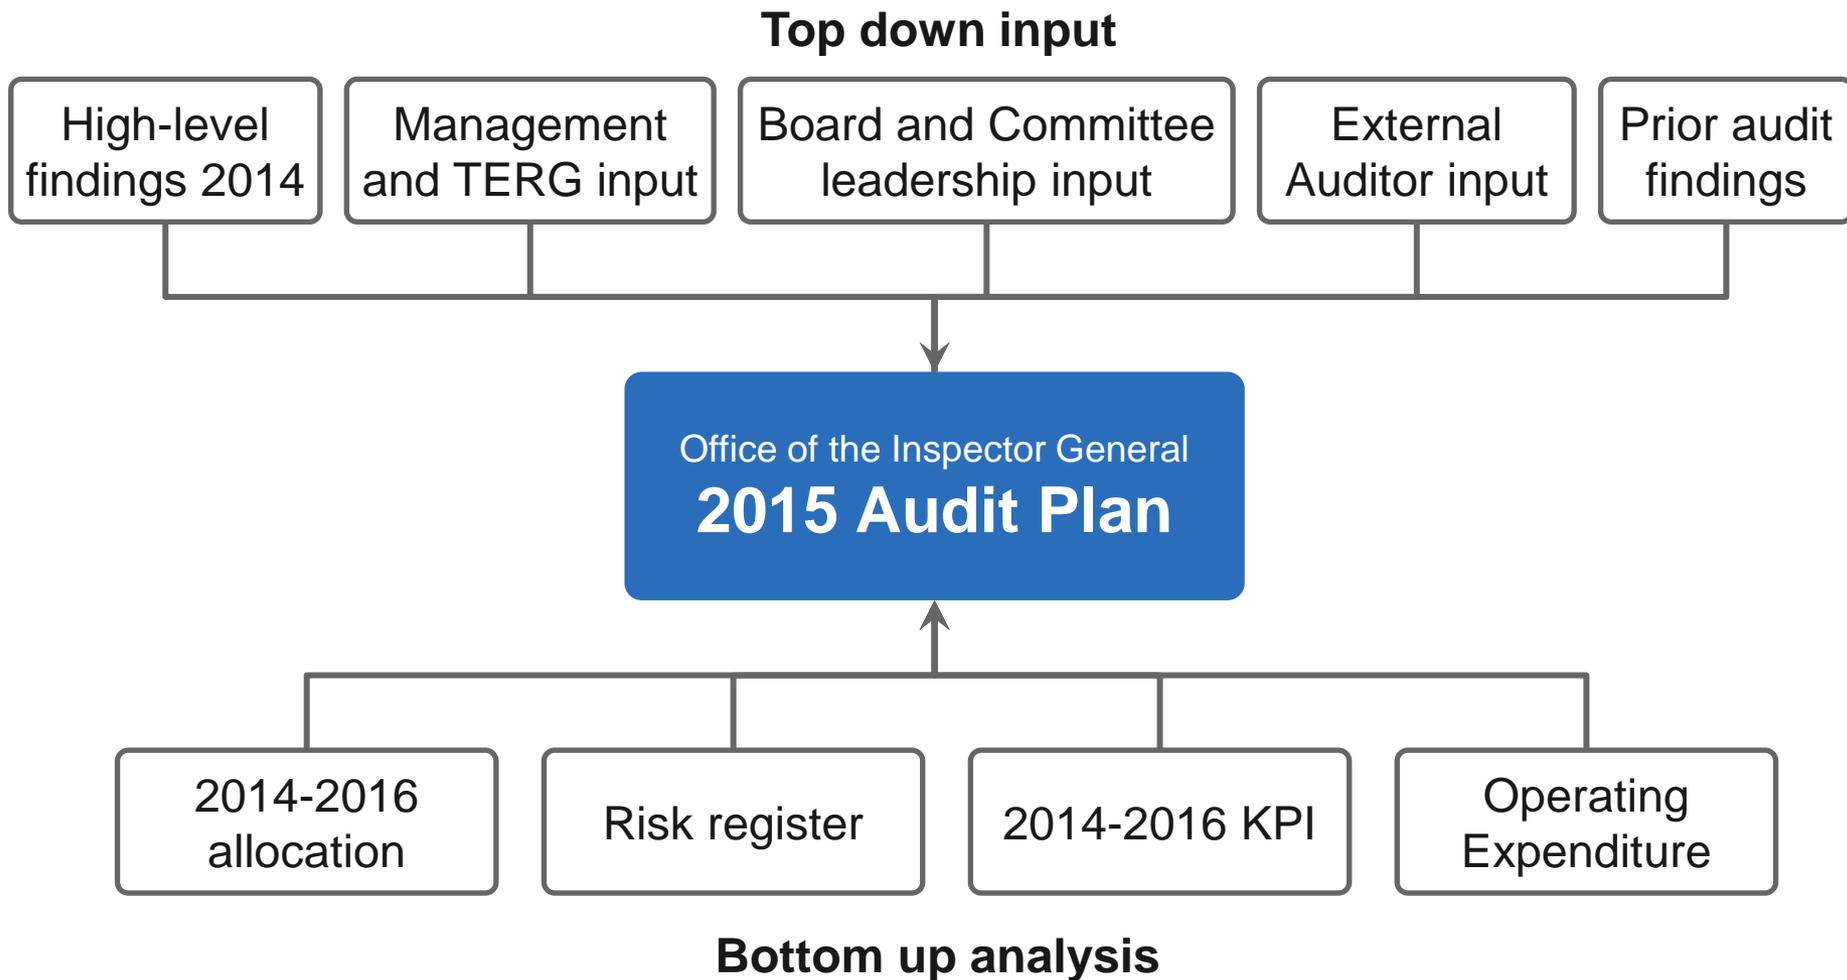

- The 2015 Audit Plan is aligned with the 2012-2016 Global Fund Strategy and the Audit Unit mission to support, improve and safeguard the Global Fund.
- Part of a three-year audit plan to provide an overall opinion on governance, risk management and control processes.
- Input on key risks from Board leadership, executive management and past audits.
- Risk based, following top-down and bottom up analysis.
- Plan based on historical analysis of 2014 actual time spent.

Audit Response

- 6 internal audits
- 10 country audits
- Significant resources allocated to ex-ante assurance work and validating implementation of agreed management actions.
- Overall assurance statement to the Board

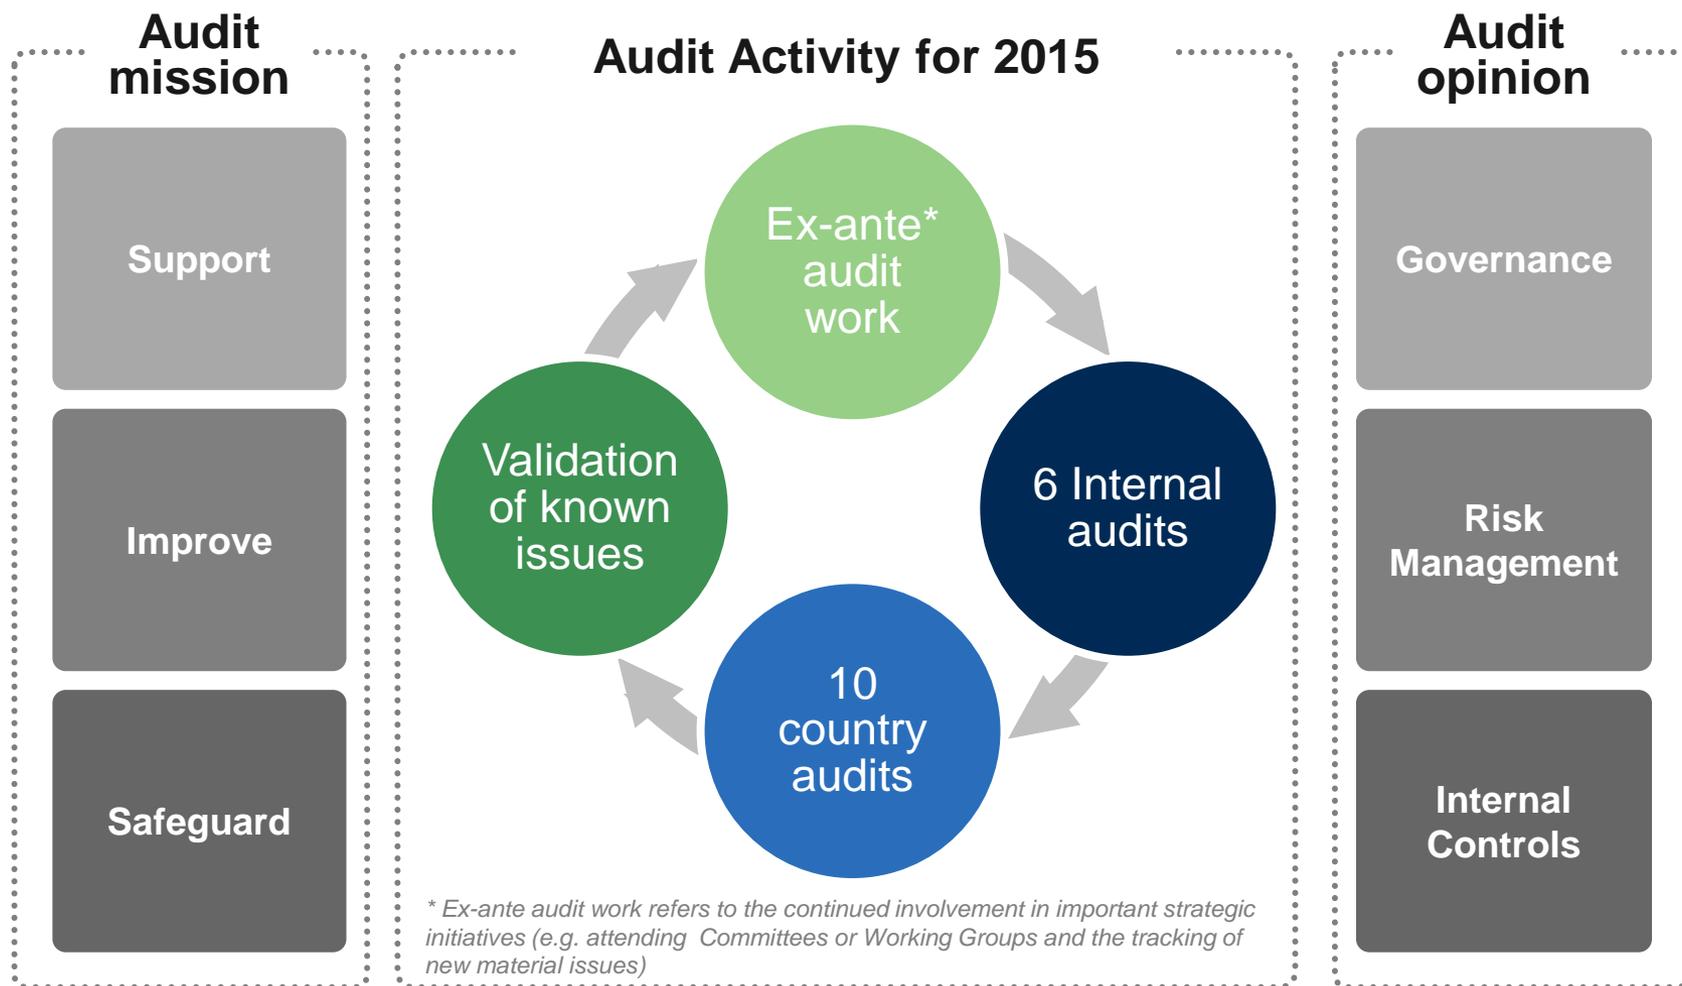

Audit work plan 2015

Country audits 2015

Methodology

Following on from 2014 Country audits, we will continue to:

- ▶ Emphasize the importance of deeper auditing;
- ▶ Tailor our approach to identify the key assurance required;
- ▶ Focus on Secretariat strategies for each grant;
- ▶ Obtain compelling data and evidence to support conclusions.

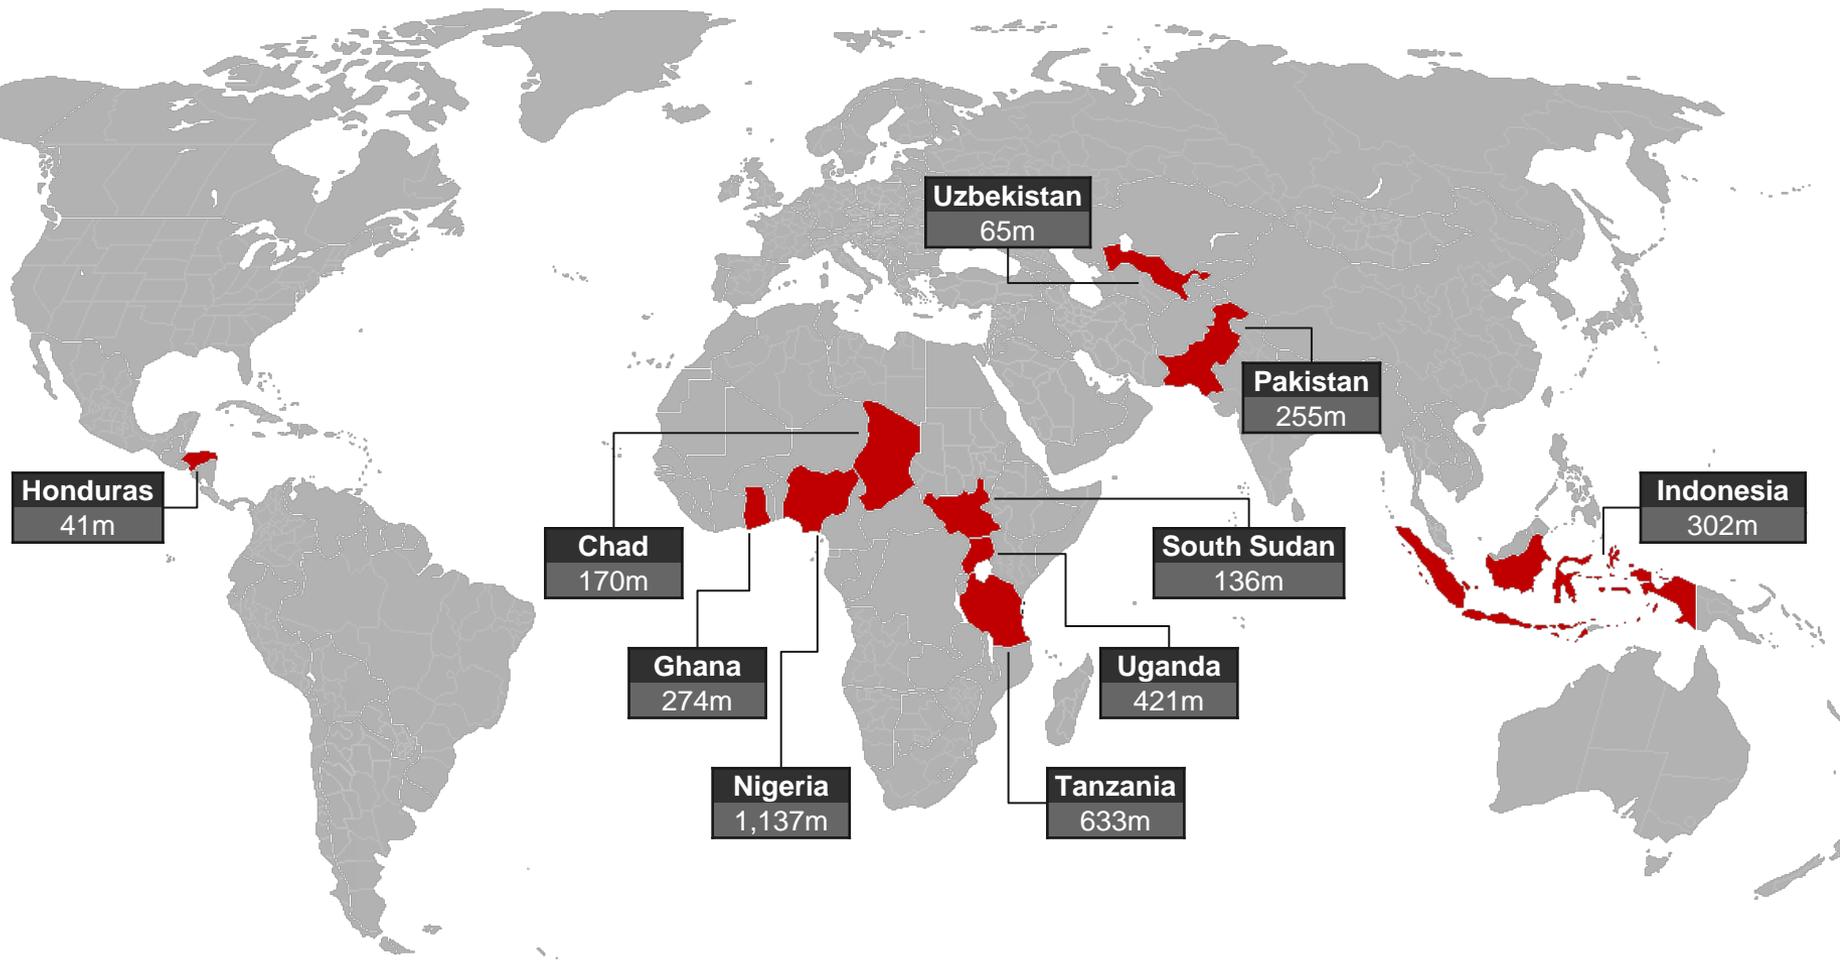

Our opinion will be based on four main categories, in line with the QUART.

Country risk index* and 2014-16 allocations

* The Country Risk index is a composite index of ten indicators, computed by the Risk Department of the Global Fund Secretariat: The Fund for Peace's Failed States Index; Transparency International's Corruption Perception Index; The World Bank's Ease of Doing Business Index; five out of the six World Bank Governance Indices; The UN's Safety and Security Index; and The Institute for Economics and Peace's Global Peace Index.

Proactive auditing

EX-ANTE ASSURANCE WORK

Ex-ante work*

Continued involvement in important strategic initiatives

Due to the scale of issues identified in 2014, 20% of the overall audit effort will be dedicated to this in 2015

Active committee involvement

- Management Executive Committee
- Risk and Assurance Committee – institutional and regional
- Grant Approval Committee
- Executive Grant Management Committee
- Recoveries Committee
- NFM Steering Committee
- Steering Committee for Quality Products
- Civil Society Hub
- Document Mgmt and Retention

Participation in new initiatives

- Ongoing roll out of Results Based Financing initiatives
- Differentiation efforts
- Salesforce implementation and system integration
- Procurement for impact

 Ex-ante audit work refers to the continued involvement in important strategic initiatives (e.g. attending Committees or Working Groups and the tracking of new material issues)*

Follow-up

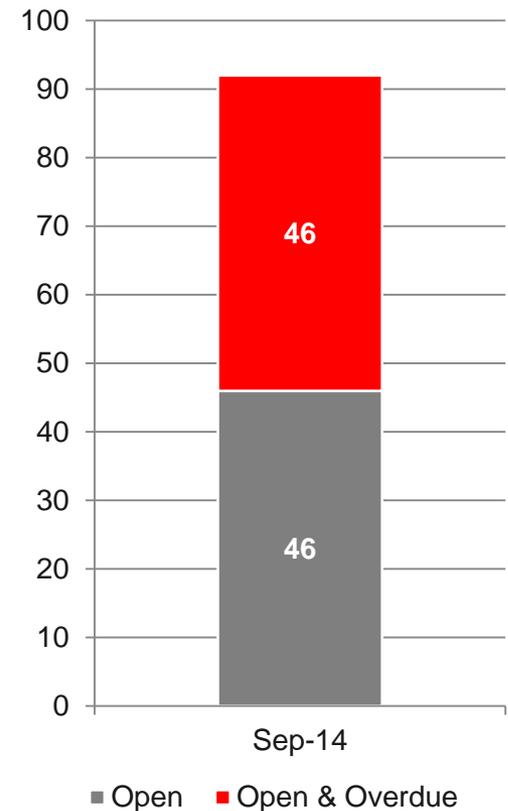

TRACKING AND VALIDATION OF KNOWN ISSUES

Follow-up

Tracking of known issues

- TeamCentral, a web-based platform to track recommendations, is now live.
- Training sessions have been organized with the Secretariat to ensure the new system is understood and used.
- We will continue to follow-up outstanding and new audit recommendations in 2015, including recoveries.
- Additional recommendations to be tracked in 2015 include the Governance review and in-country audits

Status of audit recommendations

Follow-up

Validation of known issues

To date, follow-up efforts have focused on rationalizing and stabilizing the recommendations database. In 2015, we will have an increased emphasis on validating strategic actions from ex-ante work, as well as 2013-14 audit work:

- Governance Review
 - Governance oversight
 - Risk management
 - Assessment of organisational performance
- Combined Assurance
 - Framework
 - Co-ordination of ex ante and ex post assurance activities
 - Three lines of defence
 - Reliance on assurance providers
 - Cost of assurance
- Ethics Framework
- Recoveries tracking and reporting
- Accountability Framework
- Grant Closures
- Documentation Retention and Record Management
- Data Security and Privacy
- Performance Based Financing in fragile states
- Long overdue findings

Quality Assurance

FOCUSING ON CONTINUOUS QUALITY IMPROVEMENT

Quality Assurance

Seeking continuous improvement

- External quality assessment
 - now annual
- Quality assurance and improvement program
 - IIA standards
 - maturing processes
- TeamMate/TeamCentral
 - standardized audit software
- Rigorous performance management
 - integrated in Secretariat process
- Focus on continuous improvement

Vision

The Global Fund's Investigation Unit to be a role model for the international aid community.

Purpose

To expose the abuse of grant funds and influence change that safeguards the Global Fund and the lives affected by AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria

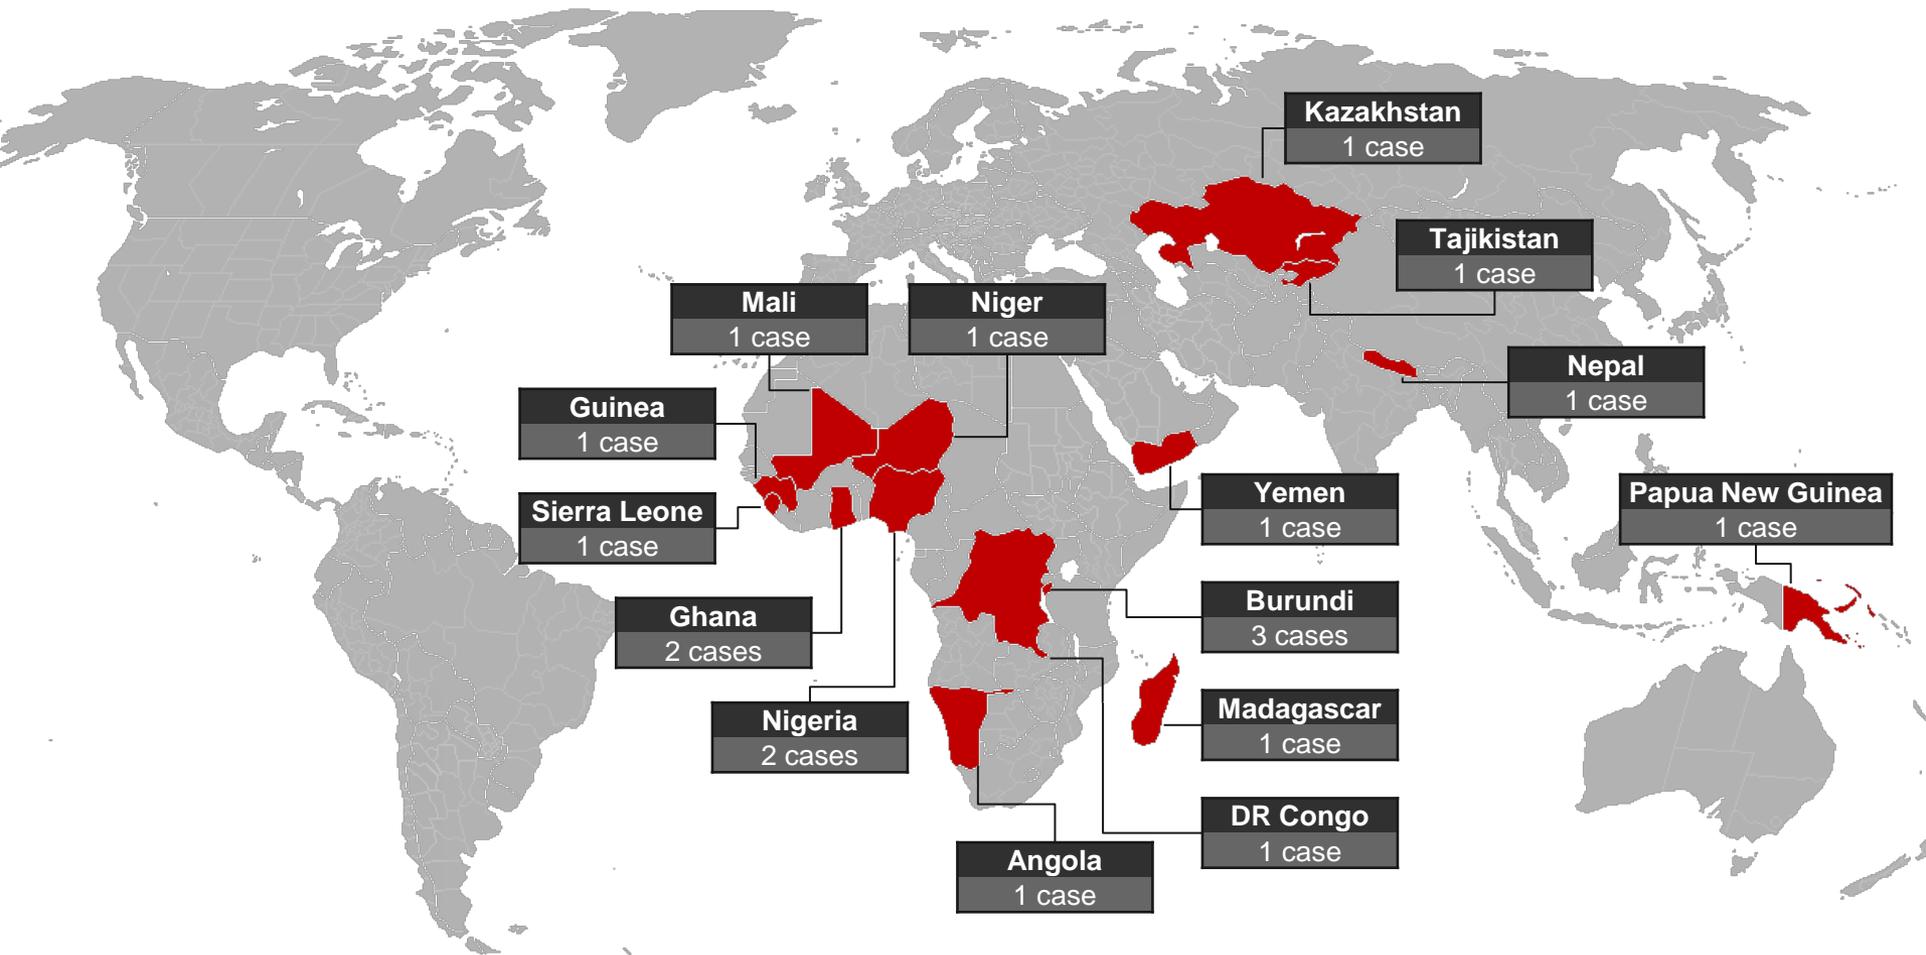

2014 Achievements

Productivity up

- Screened 106 complaints (represents an increase of 49% compared to the same period)
- New cases opened in 2014 = 26
- To date - published reports (8) cases: Madagascar, Papua New Guinea, Sierra Leone, Ghana, Mali, Nigeria, Burundi, Democratic Republic of Congo.
- Predicted 92% closure of all legacy cases

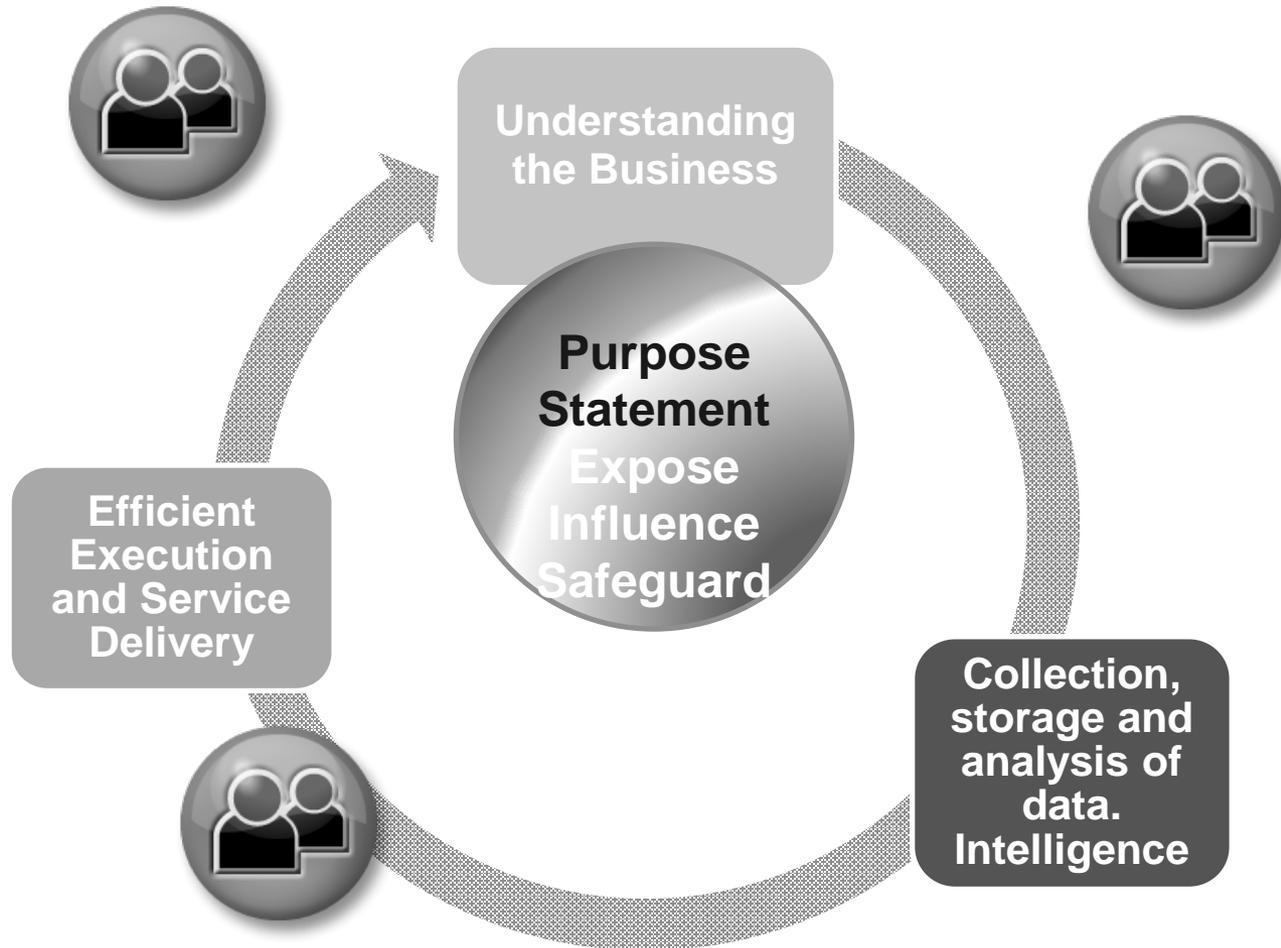

Published Reports 2014

22 cases: geographic distribution

Three strategies

Turning the purpose into reality

Investigation Work Plan

Six themes

1 Knowledge Resource
Establish information management culture to become a Knowledge Resource Centre

2 Intelligence Capacity
Develop Intelligence Building Capacity. Risk Assessment approach focusing on fraud prevention and disruption

3 Carry Forward investigations
Completion of 29 cases from 2013/2014 (carry forward cases)

4 Complaint-led Investigations
35 new investigations predicted for 2015 of which 20 completed during the year and 15 carried forward to 2016

5 Human Rights
Continue developing Human Rights complaint handling and investigation methodology

6 Continuous Improvement
Continue Investigations capacity building

Theme #1 Info management

Pooling knowledge into a single resource center

Benefits:

- ‘Providing the right information, to the right people, at the right time’
- Intelligence led risk assessment and strategic decision making
- Stakeholder approach, changing attitudes, behaviors and responses to fraud/abuse
- Facilitates the organization of knowledge
- Informed OIG resource allocation and prioritisation

Theme #1 Info management

Pooling knowledge into a single resource center

Benefits:

- Proactive OIG intervention to fraud/abuse red-flags
- More timely fraud prevention and disruption, less protracted and complex fraud/abuse detection investigations
- Allows lessons to be learned from business activities

OIG taking the lead

Annual Conference Of International Investigators*

- OIG asked to host this three day event in 2015
- 140 participants from other investigative agencies including; World Bank, UNDP, UNOPS, OLAF
- Knowledge sharing, benchmarking and networking benefits

*OIG Investigations conform to the Uniform Guidelines for Investigations of the Conference of International Investigators

Theme #2 Intelligence building

Intelligence-led Risk Assessment

- Proactive interventions to complement Reactive Fraud/Abuse investigations
- Conduct quarterly Risk Assessment missions in 2015
- Due Diligence, control measures, and review by OIG investigators
- Critical Control Points identified and monitored throughout grant management life-cycle

Theme #2 Intelligence building

Intelligence-led Risk Assessment

Fraud Embezzlement

Theme #2 Intelligence building

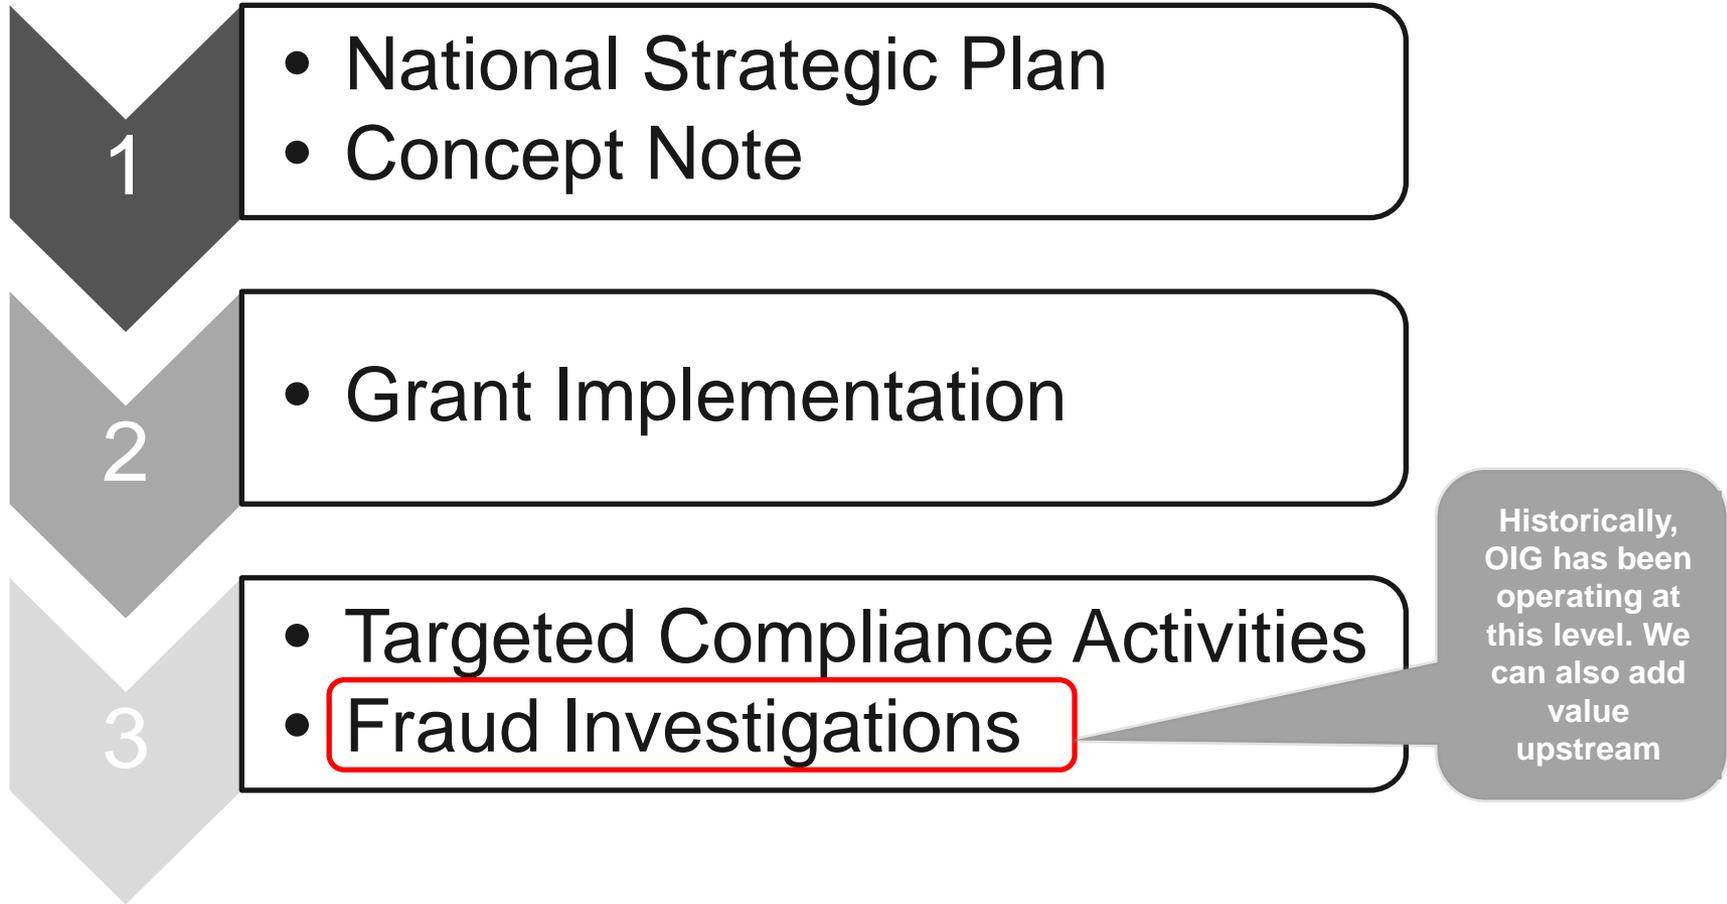

Preventing fraud upstream

- Risk assessment approach focusing on fraud prevention and disruption
- Determine criteria for intelligence led risk assessment
- Develop strategic and tactical analytical products based on fraud trends, portfolio importance, high impact countries, public and media interest
- A partnership approach with all stakeholders, including the Joint Interagency Task Force for product related issues

Theme #2 Intelligence building

Preventing fraud upstream

Theme #4 Cases in 2015

Predicted workload: manageable

- Open 35* complaint-led investigations and complete 20 of these in 2015
- A projected carry forward of 15 investigations, into 2016
- Completion of 29 carry forward cases from 2013/14
- 4 risk assessment missions
- A total completed investigation workload of 53 investigations

*Prediction based on statistics from 2014

2014 Cases closed = 50 (approx)

2014 c/f cases = 21

Unit fully staffed in 2015

Theme #4 Cases in 2015

Reporting fraud and abuse

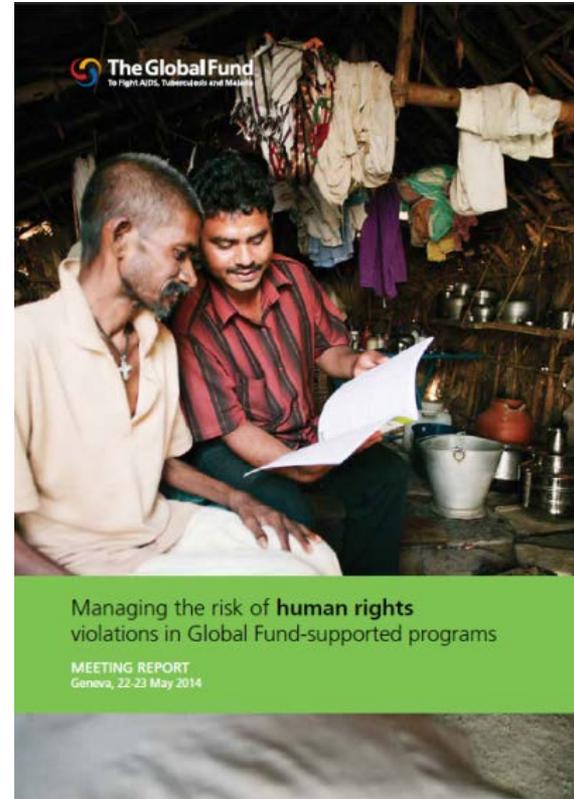

- Promote/reinvigorate the whistle-blower communication strategy
- Further enhance whistle-blower protection processes
- Develop fraud-awareness materials for a wider campaign, targeted at internal and external stakeholders

Theme #5 Human Rights

Promoting and protecting human rights

- Further define scope and OIG intervention requirements
- Develop investigation response plans to infringements of the Global Fund Human Rights criteria
- Develop training and awareness materials

Theme #6 Capacity building

Efficient information and case management activities

Achieve Operational Excellence by:

- Ensuring reporting methods for suspected fraud are efficient and inclusive
- Root cause analysis and lessons learned captured in organizational memory
- Develop and benchmark investigation standards and operational procedures in line with the Stakeholder Engagement Model
- Have in place robust, case timeline, agreed action and KPI tracking

Theme #6 Capacity building

Efficient information and case management activities

- Collaborate and identify synergies with the Ethics & Integrity Initiative regarding identifying gaps and improving processes and controls.
- In particular, the Second Stage of the initiative which focuses on embedding ethics into Global Fund operations and establishing anti-corruption systems

Summary Work Plan

Investigations work plan

Knowledge Resource

1

Establish information management culture to become a Knowledge Resource Centre

2

Develop Intelligence Building Capacity. Risk Assessment and conduct 4 intelligence-led Risk Assessment missions

Carry Forward investigations

3

Completion of 29 cases from 2013/2014 (carry forward cases)

Complaint-led Investigations

4

Predicted 35 new investigations opened in 2015. Completion of 20.

5

Have in place documented Human Rights complaint handling and investigation methodology

6

Have in place robust, case timeline, agreed action and KPI tracking
