REVISED CHARTER OF THE OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL
AND
TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR THE INSPECTOR GENERAL

PURPOSE:

Upon the recommendation of the Audit and Ethics Committee of the Global Fund, this report presents the following documents for approval by the Board:

1. Revised “Charter of the Office of the Inspector General”; and

The documents, set out in Annexes 1 and 2 respectively, are shown in “track-changes” mode to reflect the difference between the 19 February 2013 initial drafts that were commented upon by Board Constituencies, and the final documents now being recommended to the Board by the AEC.

This document is part of an internal deliberative process of the Global Fund and as such cannot be made public until after the Board deliberations close and a decision has been taken.
Part 1: Background

Process of document revision

1. In November 2009 the Global Fund Board last considered and revised the combined “Charter and Terms of Reference of the Office of the Inspector General”.

3. At its November 2011 meeting, the Global Fund Board adopted governance reforms, including the establishment of the Audit and Ethics Committee (“AEC”) under a Charter that delegated certain responsibilities related to the work of the Office of the Inspector General to the AEC.

4. At its November 2012 meeting, the Global Fund Board agreed it would commence the search for the next Inspector General of the Global Fund.

5. Pursuant to Section 33 of the “Operating Procedures of the Board and Committees of the Global Fund” (“Operating Procedures”), and after consultation with Constituencies of the Board, the Board Chair has proposed for Board approval the Terms of Reference for the 2013 Inspector General Ad-Hoc Nominations Committee (“Nominations Committee”) and the membership of the Nominations Committee.

6. On 11 February 2013, at the same time as circulating the proposed final draft Nominations Committee Terms of Reference, the Board Chair proposed to the Board that the search for the next Inspector General be undertaken under revised governance documentation. The proposal to Board Constituencies was to separate the role of the Office of the Inspector General from the role of the person leading that office. The Board Chair suggested therefore that the Board consider over February and early March:

   a. A revised “Charter of the Office of the Inspector General” (“OIG Charter”) that describes the mission and work of the Office of the Inspector General; and

7. Acting in line with this proposal and the draft timetable in the Board Chair’s communication to the Board on 11 February 2013, Board Constituencies received an initial version of the OIG Charter and the IG TORs on 19 February 2013.
8. As foreshadowed in the 11 February draft timetable, the initial revised draft OIG Charter and draft IG TORs had been prepared by the Board leadership, the AEC leadership, Legal Counsel and the Interim Inspector General.

9. Board constituencies provided inputs on the draft OIG Charter and draft IG TORs during conferences calls on 25 February, or in writing by 27 February 2013. A compilation of all inputs was circulated to Board Constituencies on 1 March 2013.

10. In line with the “next steps” at section C of the 1 March communication, the AEC was requested to take the inputs from Board Constituencies over 25 – 27 February 2013, and resolve a series of outstanding topics arising from those inputs.

11. Part 2 of this report reflects the AEC’s deliberations on the draft OIG Charter and IG TORs taking into account Board Constituency inputs, and best practice. Part 3 presents the proposed final OIG Charter and IG TORs for Board approval.

Part 2: AEC deliberations on draft OIG Charter and draft IG TORs

1. The AEC met by teleconference on 8 March 2013 to consider revised drafts of the OIG Charter and the IG TORs. The documentation reviewed included:

   a. “Draft two” versions of the OIG Charter and the IG TORs circulated to the AEC on 4 March 2013; and

   b. An explanatory note of how the majority of the inputs from Board Constituencies had been taken up in the latest versions.

2. During its meeting, the AEC considered six key questions arising from Board Constituency inputs, and then considered the documents as whole. The paragraphs that follow in this part 2 note the questions and the AEC’s final view on those inputs. The paragraphs also identify additional inputs from the AEC during their review of the two documents, to ensure that the versions recommended for Board approval represent best practice.

Questions for the AEC arising from Board Consultations

3. Does Section 5 of the OIG Charter capture an appropriate escalation approach for matters to the Board by the Inspector General/Office of the Inspector General?

   AEC decision: The AEC determined that the drafting in section 5 required a small change in terminology but was otherwise appropriate having regard to the Bylaws and AEC Charter. The change is to remove the ostensibly optional nature of the consultation (coming from the use of “consult” in the draft OIG Charter), and replace it with a requirement to first discuss the issue and seek to reach agreement with the AEC before engaging directly with the Board on matters relating to the work of the Office of the Inspector General.

4. Should Section 9.1 of the OIG Charter reflect the Institute of Internal Auditor’s (“IIA”) definition of internal audit more directly, by including the audit of “governance processes” in its terms?

   AEC decision: The AEC determined that it was best practice to reflect the IIA definition in Section 9.1.
5. In Section 15, is there a reason not to take up the High Level Panel recommendations, which recommend that the Global Fund have different versions of reports for different audiences? More specifically, should the Global Fund no longer publish internal audit findings on its external website, but still ensure that there is full disclosure of issues to the Executive Director and the Board through the AEC?

AEC decision: The AEC discussed this section in the context of the risk-based multi-year audit plan that the Office of the Inspector General had presented to the AEC for the 2013 and 2014 calendar years. It noted that the new audit plan focuses on key Fund processes and controls, meaning that the number of country audits planned over this period is not as numerous as in past years. The AEC noted this was likely to mean that a smaller number of audit reports would be published on the Global Fund’s external website than before, which in turn may lead to perceptions that the Global Fund was moving back from its principle of full transparency in its work. AEC members saw merit in retaining section 15 of the OIG Charter as drafted.

However, the AEC noted that when it comes time for the AEC to consider, and recommend to the Board for approval, the revised disclosure policy for reports of the Office of the Inspector General, this issue must incorporate technical, ethical, transparency and accountability perspectives. Staff of the Office of the Inspector General and Legal and Compliance Department present during the AEC meeting on 8 March 2013 confirmed that the draft disclosure policy presented to the AEC would address this issue. It would also incorporate the new practice of the Board having 10 days to review any final report before external publication.

6. Do the revised Section 1 (Mission of the Office of the Inspector General) and Section 2 (Scope) clarify that the Office of the Inspector General does not evaluate program impact?

AEC decision: The AEC determined that the shortened version of Section 2 of the OIG Charter, together with new drafting in Section 9.4 (and the second sentence in particular) removed any confusion about this matter. They noted that the streamlined heading of Section 2 of the OIG Charter to “Scope” (to reflect the overall breadth of the office’s work), from the earlier “Scope of Work” (which may have been confused with the more restrictive concept of a “statement of work”) helped with this clarification.

The AEC also found that unlike section 9.1 (which benefited from a more exhaustive definition of internal audit from the IIA guidelines), Section 1 should stay broader and more principles-based.

7. Do AEC members feel that the edits presented to Section 8.2 and Section 9.11 of the OIG Charter clarify what is meant by “Advisory services”, and ensure that these services are provided only if they do not detract from performance of the overall mission of the Office of the Inspector General?

AEC decision: During deliberations, the AEC noted two possible issues with the initial drafting on Section 9.11 of the OIG Charter. First, the AEC discussed whether it is possible to avoid all conflicts of interest in the provision of advisory services. The Interim Inspector General recommended revised wording, to require potential conflicts to be mitigated proactively, rather than assuming that they could always be avoided. Second, the AEC reflected on whether there was potential confusion between the provision of consulting services under the IIA standards (which would be typical) and other services. The AEC is recommending a substantially modified Section 9.11 and 9.12 of the OIG Charter to ensure the necessary level of clarity.
8. What is the recommended minimum term for the Inspector General role, having regard to the proposal of a six-year minimum term in the draft IG TORs?

AEC decision: The AEC briefly noted the revised 2012 Executive Director appointment framework (initial four year term, the possibility of one additional four year term, robust annual performance assessments, and new contractual terms for senior officers of the Global Fund). Because of the nature of the Inspector General role, the AEC noted the importance of the Inspector General role having a different employment cycle to the Executive Director, to avoid concurrent vacancies and to maintain overall accountability.

The AEC agreed that this best-practice standard necessitated the employment term of the Inspector General being six years. There was also discussion about the natural expectation of persons in the role: they would take a period of time (up to one year was the observation from the Interim Inspector General) to be fully operational in their role, and then the final year would be one of preparing to hand over to the new appointee.

On balance, the AEC agreed that six years was a more effective term of office than other multilateral organizations that have terms less than this, having first considered whether the term should be seven or eight years. AEC members with Global Fund Board experience reflected on the typical appointment term for Board and Committee Members, and observed that an eight-year fixed term may not be appropriate in that context. Taking all matters into consideration, the AEC believed that a single six-year term represented good practice, together with robust annual performance assessments.

Additional matters arising during AEC review of the draft OIG Charter and draft IG TORs

9. There was discussion on whether the IG TORs were sufficiently connected to the OIG Charter to ensure that the Inspector General was accountable for the overall management of the Office of the Inspector General, and delivery on the mission of that Office.

AEC decision: The AEC agreed that the IG TORs should expressly reference the mission and OIG Charter in the introductory paragraphs on page one.

10. The AEC also identified a small number of minor drafting edits to give clarity and strengthen the final version of the documents.

AEC decision: The AEC made minor drafting changes to ensure clarity and consistency in terminology.

Recommendation of the AEC

11. Having taken all inputs into account, and being fully satisfied with the documents, the AEC recommends for approval by the Board, the OIG Charter and the IG TORs set out at Annexes 1 and 2 to this report. The documents are shown in “track-changes” mode to reflect the difference between the 19 February 2013 initial drafts that were commented upon by Board Constituencies, and the final documents now being recommended to the Board by the AEC.

Correspondingly, the AEC and the Ethics Official should inform the Office of the Inspector General of matters of which it becomes aware that are relevant to the mandate of the Office of Inspector General and should refer any such matters to the Office of Inspector General for investigation promptly.

24. In addition, if the Office of the Inspector General receives information regarding a matter that is outside the scope of the Office of Inspector General’s mission but may be relevant to the work of these or other parties, the appropriate individuals or entities should be informed by the Office of the Inspector General as promptly as possible.
