

Technical Review Panel Member

Curriculum Vitae

Name: Lee-Nah Hsu
 Nationality: U.S.A.
 Additional languages: Chinese, English, French, Spanish
 Expertise: governance, health systems strengthening, monitoring and evaluation, health management information system, human resources for health

Qualifications

Qualification	Institution	Department	Year
Doctor of Science	Harvard University	Health Policy & Management, Biostatistics, and Behavioural Science	1983
Master of Public Health	Harvard University	Health Services Administration	1980
Master of Science	Yale University	Community Health and Family Practice	1979

Employment History

Employer	Position	Place	Year
University of San Francisco	Adjunct Professor	San Francisco, California	2016-present
International Labour Organization	Senior Technical Specialist	Geneva, Switzerland	2009-2015
Asia Development Bank, the World Bank, UNDP, Partnerships in Health, etc.	Consultant/ Senior technical advisor	Central Asian Republics, Africa, and Asia	2005-2009

Relevant Publications

Hsu, Lee-Nah, Howard R., Torriente A., Por C., (2016), Creating an enabling environment for occupational safety and health of entertainment workers in Cambodia, New Horizon

Torriente A., Tadion A., Hsu L-N (2016), Opening the door to zero new HIV infections in closed settings, Health and Human Rights Journal, February

Kisting S., Wilburn S., Hsu L-N, et al (2010), Implementing the joint ILO-WHO policy guidelines on improving health workers access to HIV and TB prevention, treatment, care and support services, The International Health Forum, December

In addition to over 70 peer reviewed articles and over 100 guidelines, reports and manuals published since 1978