SECTION 3. TERMS OF REFERENCE

A. BACKGROUND

The Global Fund and Procurement of Health Products

The Global Fund is a 21st-century partnership organization designed to accelerate the end of AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria as epidemics. Founded in 2002, the Global Fund is a partnership between governments, civil society, the private sector and people affected by the diseases. The Global Fund raises and invests nearly US$4 billion a year to support programs run by local experts in countries and communities most in need. Approximately 50% of this invested amount is for the procurement of pharmaceuticals and other health products.

Progress has been significant and by end 2015, 20 million lives have been saved, 9.2 million people are on antiretroviral treatment for HIV, 15.1 million have received TB treatment and 659 million Long Lasting Insecticidal Nets (LLIN) have been distributed. Further details of the Global Fund’s mandate, programs and impact are available at http://www.theglobalfund.org/.

The Global Fund has a history of deliberately leveraging its position to shape markets for health products, contributing to improved health outcomes, increased value for money and more stable product availability. In 2007, the Board call for the Global Fund to play "a deliberate and strategic role in improving the impact of grants by influencing market dynamics" that resulted in the creation of the Voluntary Pooled Procurement (VPP) and Price and Quality Reporting (PQR) mechanisms to support this strategy.

May 2011, the Global Fund Board endorsed a Market Shaping Strategy³ which acknowledged the critical role of the Global Fund, as the primary financier of essential health products, in shaping markets to maximize access to health products at affordable and sustainable prices. Whilst the 2011 Strategy initially applied to antiretroviral medicines, the 2015 Market Shaping Strategy⁴ covered all the critical health product groups and aims to contribute to improved health outcomes, accelerate access to superior products and achieve significant cost savings.

In 2013, the Global Fund took the strategic decision to improve its purchasing effectiveness through more active engagement with the supply base thus resulting to the establishment of direct supplier relationships and strengthening the VPP to be one of the main tools to implement the Strategy and was renamed the Pooled Procurement Mechanism (PPM) in 2013.

³ See Market Dynamics Committee Report to the 23rd Board Meeting at https://www.theglobalfund.org/board-decisions/b23-dp21/
⁴ https://www.theglobalfund.org/board-decisions/b34-dp08/
This has resulted to date in the development of Procurement Strategies, followed by the launch of global tenders and the subsequent establishment of long term Framework Agreements with successful suppliers for a number of product groups:

- Long Lasting Insectidial Nets (LLINs) in 2013 and 2015
- Artemisinin Combination Therapies (ACTs) in 2014
- Antiretroviral Medicines (ARVs) in 2015
- Viral load and early infant diagnostics in 2015
- Strategies are under development in 2017 for rapid diagnostic kits for HIV and tests for Malaria; and in 2018 for Essential medicines used in HIV programs

In addition to these product categories, Global Fund’s recipients of grant funds (“Principal Recipients” or “PR”) may use PPM services to procure additional products that might have limited benefits from procurement strategies but are critical to the PR for program management and grant implementation.

The PPM model is based on the outsourcing of key activities, such as having a relevant contractor who will be acting as the procurement agent of the PR in respect of the PPM procurements. Although the Global Fund may facilitate communications between the PR and the contractor, the Global Fund does not be act as the agent of either party.

PPM currently procures pharmaceuticals and other health products for over 60 countries with spend of $1.2 billion, representing about 60% of the Global Fund’s spend on pharmaceuticals and other health products.
